Follow-up Activities to the Dialogue on Reproductive Health, Gender and Human Rights

Conferences are all too often singular events that stimulate participants, raise awareness and galvanize attention to a particular issue or cause. However, without concerted follow-up efforts, the enthusiasm and commitment generated by the high caliber of presentations and dialogue may quickly fade away. The partners responsible for organizing this conference were determined to keep the issues fresh, alive and in front of our constituents. Subsequent to the December 1999 Dialogue on Reproductive Health, Gender and Human Rights, the co-sponsoring organizations—PATH’s Women’s Reproductive Health Initiative, the Global Health Council (GHC), the Center for Health and Gender Equity (CHANGE), the Center for Reproductive Law and Policy (CRLP), Columbia University School of Public Health (CU), The Futures Group International (TFGI), George Washington University School of Public Health (GWU), Human Rights Watch (HRW), the Pan American Health Organization (PAHO) and the World Bank (WB)—and sometimes other groups—built on this successful and stimulating day by organizing and/or making presentations at the following events:
